Monthly Commentary

South Africa: The Rand lost ground against the US Dollar (-4.4%), British Pound (-2.2%) and the Euro (-1.8%) during the month. The JSE All Share lost 6.0% during October resulting in a decline of 11.0% over the last two months as global equities experienced its worst month thus far in 2018. The global sell-off was caused by numerous factors, the most important being: the IMF lowering its 2019 growth outlook for both the U.S and China, fears that U.S corporate earnings have peaked, political tensions with Saudi Arabia and the ever-present U.S - China trade war concerns. The medium-term budget policy statement, delivered by newly appointed Finance Minister Tito Mboweni did not exactly inspire the market with confidence and the ABSA manufacturing PMI number slipped from 43.2 in September to a fresh nine year low of 42.4 in October. Looking at some positive news, consumer price inflation remained stable at 4.9% year-over-year (YoY) and retail sales surprised on the upside increasing 2.5% YoY.

International: Economic data out of the U.S remains robust as its economy grew faster than expected with a YoY increase of 3.5% in Q3'18. Consumer spending also had its strongest showing in almost four years, increasing by 4.0%. This did not stop U.S equity markets posting its weakest showing thus far in 2018 as the S&P 500 (-7.0%), Dow Jones Industrial Average (-5.1%) and Nasdaq (-9.2%) all moved sharply lower. European markets also sold off heavily with the Euro Stoxx 600 (-6.7%), France CAC (-7.3%), German Dax (-6.5%), FTSE Italy (8.0%) and FTSE 100 (-5.1%) all moving lower. Markets did not react to German Chancellor, Angela Merkel, decision to step down as CDU party leader in December as she said she was "willing" to remain chancellor until 2021. They did, however, react to weak economic growth numbers as the eurozone slowed to its lowest level in four years. Eurozone GDP rose by only 0.2% in Q3'18, down from 0.4% in Q2'18. Italy's woes continue as GDP numbers slowed from 1.2% in Q2'18 to 0.8% in Q3'18. On the positive side, eurozone consumer confidence edged up by 0.2 points to -2.7 points, fuelling speculation that the ECB might stop its quantitative easing programme by the end of the year. The ECB kept rates steady and confirmed its asset purchases will be 15 billion euros until the end of the year.

Our Position: We are maintaining our maximum exposure in international equities according to the fund's risk/return profile, with zero in offshore bonds. Locally we see no reason to invest in local companies that have 'challenging' conditions. We have retained our exposure to SA equities with an emphasis on 'international companies listed on the JSE'. We have an overweight position in property stocks, well diversified between local and foreign exposure. Local property continues to offer good potential real returns, foreign property in developed markets is continuing to benefit from relatively low interest rates and improving growth dynamics and provides additional protection from currency depreciation. We have an overweight position in local bonds which is comprised of managers who, in combination, take advantage of high yielding corporate opportunities and low duration instruments which has benefited our investors in the current environment.
