PERFORMANCE COMMENTARY

While many are hailing 2020 as one of the worst years in history, the year actually ended on more than one positive note. After lengthy negotiations, a Brexit deal was finally concluded on Christmas Eve. One of the outcomes is that UK nationals will now require a visa if they want to stay in the EU for more than 90 days in a 180-day period. The UK is already in talks with the US, Australia and New Zealand – all countries that do not currently have free trade agreements with the EU.

Pfizer and Moderna have both gone to market with Covid-19 vaccines and vaccination programmes will be rolled out globally this year. However, there has been a bit of a bunfight over who gets what, with more affluent countries such as Canada forking out and buying enough vaccines to vaccinate every Canadian five times over. At the time of writing this, the Georgia run-off elections seemed to be a sure bet for the Democrats. If this happens, it will signal a massive victory for Joe Biden's party, giving his administration greater authority when it comes to tackling the climate crisis, Covid-19 pandemic, appointing federal judges and addressing racial inequalities.

Locally, SA's third quarter GDP beat expectations, falling only 6% year-on-year. Mboweni's call to cut public wages was backed by the Labour Court, putting a significant amount of R38 billion firmly back in government coffers and strengthening South Africa's financial position incrementally. While it may be a drop in the ocean it signals a step in the right direction, which should reassure foreign investors. The positives abound but the news is tempered with the rising cases of Covid infections as we ride the second wave. Infection rates are higher, cases are more contagious, the incubation period is shorter, symptoms are more severe, and the death rate is higher. While we have much to be grateful for in 2021, lockdown restrictions will likely tighten in the next few months. President Cyril Ramaphosa must balance reducing infection rates and boosting public safety, with trying to bolster a failing economy while supporting businesses that have already taken huge knocks. The FTSE/JSE SWIX Index gained 4.0%, Industrials were down 1.1% and Financials were up 8.3%. The JSE All Bond Index advanced 2.4%, while the rand appreciated by 5.1% relative to the US dollar.
